Visiting Story

On _____ I will be going to Caboolture Art Gallery.

Caboolture Art Gallery is a welcoming place where I can experience artworks by Australian artists and do art activities. The gallery is always free to visit. It is open Tuesday to Saturday from 10 AM to 4 PM. It is closed on public holidays.

Acknowledgement of Country

I will see the Acknowledgement of Country inside the entrance to Caboolture Art Gallery. The gallery is on the land of the Kabi Kabi people. The City of Moreton Bay acknowledges the Kabi Kabi as well as the Jinibara and Turrbal peoples and pays respects to Elders, past, present, and emerging.

The Exhibition

Through the gallery's glass sliding doors, I will find myself in a large exhibition space. The main gallery has one large exhibition space that changes layout for each exhibition. It is a big space with a wooden floor that looks like this.

The current exhibition, Tamara Dean | Leave only footprints is a solo exhibition by artist Tamara Dean which spans over 11 key bodies of work that explore transitional moments in our lives, such as rites of passage, rituals and motherhood. The exhibition is underpinned by the artist's longing and desire to be within and to protect nature.

I can see photographs hanging on the walls and a video work projected onto one of the walls.

I can move through this exhibition in any way I like. I will take my time to walk around the space and see the works in front of me.

Visual

The lighting in this exhibition is dim. The only lights that are on, shine on the artworks.

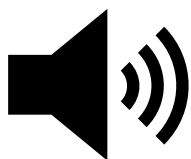

One of the artworks is a video projected onto a wall. There are no flashing or flickering lights in this video.

The video is a close-up of the artist's face which gets powdered dye thrown onto her. Here's what the video looks like:

Sounds

The only sound I can hear in the exhibition comes from the video artwork projected onto the wall. It features quiet ambient instrumental music and sound effects from the throwing of powder.

If sounds like this may bother me, I can avoid this area or I can wear noise reducing headphones or earplugs.

There are no other loud noises in this exhibition.

Smells

This exhibition features three distinct "earthy" scents, presented on paper strips in three different areas. If I am sensitive to smells, I can easily avoid these scent plinths and enjoy the rest of the exhibition without engaging with them. This is what the scent area looks like:

Touch

I cannot touch artworks in the exhibition. If I want to interact with the exhibition further, I can go to either the Long Gallery or Focus Gallery to do activities.

These are some photos of what the inside of the gallery looks like, so I can prepare before my visit.

There are three other spaces where I can go within the gallery.

Long Gallery

The Long Gallery space is interactive, and I can participate in different activities.

Focus Gallery

I can sit and learn how to take pictures using different photographic techniques in the Focus Gallery. It can get busy and noisy, especially during school holidays. The quietest times to visit are weekdays in the afternoon (1-3pm). I can also wear noise-cancelling headphones to help me.

The Hub Gallery

The Hub Gallery is located next to the front desk. Local artists show their artworks in here. It is often one of the first places I will visit when I come to the gallery.

Things to do

The gallery hosts lots of different kind of events or activities. Some of the fun things you can go to at the gallery are:

Exhibition openings: These are when the gallery celebrates a new exhibition with morning or afternoon tea, guest speakers and other events depending on what the exhibition is about.

Art workshops: There are different workshops organised for adults and children throughout the year.

Artist talks: The gallery likes to invite experts to come to the gallery and discuss different topics relevant to the exhibitions.

Group tours: The gallery caters for groups to have personal tours of the exhibitions in the different spaces.

Sensory tours: The gallery offers sensory tours that encourage visitors to experience art through all senses, including sight, touch, sound, smell and taste.

I can ask gallery team members for more information about any of these events or check the gallery website.
