

Bees (excluding native bees) - How many can I have at my property?

14 November 2023

The number of bee hives (excluding native bees) you can have is dependent on the size of your property and is regulated by council's local law. Beehives in residential backyards must be managed to ensure bees don't become a nuisance to neighbours.

If you are keeping bees, you must register as a biosecurity entity with Biosecurity Queensland. When you're registered as a biosecurity entity, you'll receive a unique Hive Identification Number (HIN) to mark your hives.

Don't know the size of your property or want to know more about getting a permit for additional animals? Contact council on 07 3205 0555 for assistance.
